Undergraduate Teaching Fellows
General Practice and Community Medical Education

Are you enthusiastic about primary care and would like to pass on your knowledge and enthusiasm to the GPs of tomorrow?

Are you interested in developing an interest in or returning to undergraduate teaching?

General Practice and Community Medical Education would like to recruit Teaching Fellows to help with the delivery of teaching at the start and end of GP attachments for students in fourth and fifth years.

Teaching will be delivered in Aberdeen or Inverness at regular intervals over the course of the academic year.

Experience in general practice and enthusiasm for teaching are the only two essential criteria.

Whilst previous teaching experience is desirable, it is not essential and we will support your development in this as required.

In return you will be offered a sessional contract as a Clinical Senior Lecturer, remunerated at an hourly rate based on the top of the scale for Consultants and Clinical Senior Lecturers.

If you would like to find out more or have an informal chat about this post please contact Dr Karen Foster (email: k.foster@abdn.ac.uk or tel. no. 01224-553972) in Aberdeen or Dr Sue Tracey (email: sue.tracey@abdn.ac.uk or tel. no. 01463-255073) in Inverness.
