Advice and suggestions for current students

Planning is vital. It is important to start working on your career path right now. You can specify your tasks by picturing where you’d love to be in one year, five years and ten years.

Don’t be shy to state your plan to others. You might improve your interviewing skills without knowing it by explaining your plans.

Another thing is to keep reading. The end of university doesn’t equal the end of learning as it’s a life-long task. Be interested, be informed, be up to date, and have a point of view that is modern and educated.

Experience in Aberdeen

I really liked how friendly people are in Aberdeen. It’s easy for an international student to make connections with others such as flatmates, classmates and people from societies.

Also this experience has improved my confidence greatly. It has improved my presentation skills from classes, my problem solving skill by living alone for a long time, and communication skills from socialising with other students from all over the world. These skills are the source of my confidence.

Worries and difficulties of finding a job

During the process of finding a job, the greatest difficulty for me was feeling overwhelmed by thinking about my career prospects. It was hard to decide on the first job and which industry I should enter into.

Meanwhile, lack of knowledge of the local market and contacts worried me as well as I had been staying abroad for a long time.

You have to dream before your dreams can come true.
