

TO THE

WORKING CLASSES OF ABERDEEN.

You have been requested, by some persons unknown to you to attend a PROCESSION, in honour of Mr. Bannerman. Before agreeing to this, you should ask what Mr. Bannerman has done for you, that you should sacrifice a Day's Work for him? In the present Session of Parliament, Mr. JOHN MAXWELL, the Whig Member for Lanarkshire, moved for leave to bring in a Bill to provide for Relieving the Distresses of the Hand-Loom Weavers. He was supported by Mr. GORDON, the Tory Member for Aberdeenshire, and Mr. GILLON, the Radical, and other Members, of all kinds of Politics; but from this important Division MR. BANNERMAN WAS ABSENT, AS USUAL.

If you wish to know how much regard Mr. Bannerman has for the Working Classes, you can look to what was his conduct respecting the poor Sailors who were beset in the ice last winter. You have been told that you consider yourselves insulted by the announcement of Mr. Ross as a Candidate for the City; but there could be no greater insult to your understandings than to suppose that you would assemble in honour of a Man who spoke of saving money to the nation, instead of urging the Government to send relief to hundreds of his perishing fellow-creatures.

You ave often enough already turned out at the call of Party that wants to make Tools of you; but you have got no good as yet from REFORM, and I fear you have as little to expect from it.
