

LETTER, &c.

---

GENTLEMEN,

IT may appear to you that some apology may be due from me, who am, as Mr. Bannerman of Crimonmogate remarked of himself, a “very humble individual:” nay, who am, as you will afterwards discover, infinitely worse than Mr. Bannerman, or any other very humble anti-reforming individual, for presuming to address you; but, as you will likely find that my letter will be such as to render it unnecessary for you to write any answer, and that the only trouble you will have will be the reading it, and that only as you may be inclined, I think that no apology will be required; and I shall therefore, as I intend to comment on your late meeting, yourselves, your speeches, and your resolutions, proceed to inform you what I am not, and what I am.

I am not a Wellington administration Baronet; I am not a Commissioner of Supply, a Sheriff-Clerk, or Sheriff-Clerk Depute, a Clerk, joint or disjoint of Cess, or even a Tax-gatherer, all of whom have received office for their Tory principles, under a Tory administration; I am not a Justice of Peace, selected on account of Tory princi-
