PLEASE NOTE CAREFULLY:

The full set of school regulations and procedures is contained in the Postgraduate Student Handbook which is available online at your MyAberdeen Organisation page. Students are expected to familiarise themselves not only with the contents of this leaflet but also with the contents of the Handbook. Therefore, ignorance of the contents of the Handbook will not excuse the breach of any School regulation or procedure.

You must familiarise yourself with this important information at the earliest opportunity.

COURSE DESCRIPTION
This course is designed to give students the confidence to go directly to their manuscript-sources (whatever the dates of those manuscripts), to describe manuscripts, and to transcribe texts. The postgraduate student of mediaeval and early modern history or language or literature often needs to be able to use unedited literary and archival sources and to check the completeness and accuracy of existing editions. Not infrequently, students of mediaeval history need to use texts available only in later copies, extracts, and antiquarian notes: consequently, they should not restrict their palaeographical studies to the period of their general academic study.

INTENDED AIMS AND LEARNING OUTCOMES
This course aims to introduce postgraduate students to the palaeographical techniques required to read (as a minimum) mediaeval and early modern handwriting, to provide an overview of the development of handwriting in Western Europe, and to teach students how to describe a manuscript.

By the end of this course students should be able to:

- read confidently a variety of archival, documentary and literary texts;
- produce accurate transcripts;
- describe a manuscript in terms of the accepted conventions of palaeography; use these skills to research and write about palaeographically-based questions

LECTURE/SEMINAR PROGRAMME
Week 3 (Friday 30 Sept.)
Introduction to Palaeography
(Exploration of what individual students need to learn. Basic definitions)

Week 4 (Friday 7 Oct.)
Conventions of abbreviation

Week 5 (Friday 14 Oct.)
The context of penmanship

Week 6 (Friday 21 Oct.)
Numerals, roman and arabic
Literary and informal hands

At this point, the class divides into period-groups: Antiquity / The Middle Ages / Early Modernity / anything else. Students are welcome to participate in more than one group.

A corollary of this division is that the times and places of meetings will have to change. The location is to be confirmed; the times will need to be negotiated.

Week 7‒10 (28 Oct. – 18 Nov.)
1. Recognition, description, transcription
2. Manuscripts and hands
3. Physical features
4. Origin and provenance

A visit to the Aberdeen City and Aberdeenshire Archives will be arranged during these weeks in consultation with the students.
