

DSA Scotland – proposed July 2023 meeting – now changed to Monday 3rd July

Apologies again for the date change

As previously indicated, it was necessary to reschedule the originally planned date (22nd June) for our forthcoming DSA Scotland One-day Conference and the new date – 3rd July – appears above. There has been a delay in being able to publicise the new date while we waited for confirmation of the room booking from Mary Ryan of the Glasgow Centre for International Development – thanks to Mary for securing the room booking.

We have already had indications that an encouraging number of ‘list members’ of the DSA Scotland Study Group will be joining the meeting on 3rd July. It will be held in the University of Glasgow’s Advanced Research Centre (ARC) – and further details of the location will be given later.

Please let us know whether you are aiming to participate in the meeting / mini-conference – the schedule which we currently have appears below.

Assemble – coffee/tea/biscuits – from 10.00 am

Decolonising Aid and Development – 10.30 am to 12.30 pm

Professor Pamela Abbott – University of Aberdeen – Decolonising Research (fuller title to be confirmed)

Dr Michael Tribe – University of Glasgow – Decolonising Aid – What Does it Mean and How to Do It?

Dr Mozammel Huq – University of Strathclyde – Dealing With Aid Donors – Recipient Experience

Lunch and networking – 12.30 – 1.30 pm

Presentations by established researchers – 1.30 pm – 3.00 pm

Prabir Bhattacharya – Heriot-Watt University – Technological Innovations and the Emergence of Modern Economic Growth: An Historical Perspective

Graeme Young – University of Glasgow – Informality: The New Global Class Politics?

Presentations by Doctoral Research Students – 3.15 to 4.45 pm

Parul Tyagi – Heriot-Watt University – The impact of female political representation on child malnutrition

After 4.45 pm there will be tea/coffee/biscuits available and it is hoped that discussions during the day about the convenorship and management of the DSA Scotland Study Group can be taken forward.

Best regards

Michael Tribe (michael.tribe@glasgow.ac.uk)

Mozammel Huq (m.m.huq@strath.ac.uk)