Bannocks

Bannocks are a variety of flat bread that are traditionally from Scotland, Ireland and Northern England. They are usually made in rounds and then cut into quarters for serving with butter, cheese or jam. There are many different varieties of bannock, such as the Orkney Beremeal bannock made with flour from bere barley, or the Selkirk bannock which is more similar to a fruitcake in texture. The bannock recipe here, courtesy of Anne Johnson in Orkney, offers both barley and oat versions.
