Introduction

Many individuals and institutions have deposited their papers with the University; as a result it has acquired an unrivalled collection of material not solely relating to the history and culture of the north-east of Scotland but also of national and international importance.

A significant number of alumni have been explorers, missionaries, migrants, traders or officers of state. Many of them have left manuscripts and material objects reflecting travel and adventure. This is in addition to much rich topographical printed material accumulated over many centuries.

Archival collections

Family and estate papers

Fraser, Major-General Alexander Mackenzie, commanding officer of the 78th Highlanders Regiment (Castle Fraser papers), Egypt: 1801 - 1807 (MS 3470/6).

Kintore, Lady Hilda Keith Falconer, journals of various trips around the world including Egypt and South Africa: 1902 and 1912 (MS 3064).

Business papers

George Washington Wilson & Co., photographers: 1850 – 1905. Photographer Charles Wilson visited South Africa in the late 1890s. He embarked on a tour around the Cape Colony (Province of the Cape of Good Hope), Rhodesia (Zimbabwe) and Bechuanaland (Botswana). The collection holds images from Cape Town, Durban, Johannesburg, Kimberley and Port Elizabeth. This collection of over 250 photos documents the social history of South Africa at this time, capturing views from the De Beers diamond mines to indigenous South Africans. The company also commissioned photographs from North Africa which include over 100 pictures from Tangier and Tetuan. These include magnificent shots of Islamic architecture and are complemented by a series of 64 views from the Alhambra fortress in Granada, Spain, which is now a UNESCO world heritage site.

University of Aberdeen Oral History Archive: comprises nearly 200 interviews with individuals connected with the University (MS 3620) - of particular interest are the interviews conducted with John Hargreaves, Professor of History (MS 3620/1/127).

Other relevant collections

The Aberdeen Medico-Chirurgical Society was founded in 1789 in response to the perceived lack of medical teaching offered by both King’s and Marischal Colleges. Of particular relevance here are the papers of Sir James McGrigor who served during the Peninsular War and in India and Egypt, and was a pioneer of field hospitals and ambulances (AMCS/4/1).

For more information see the website but please note that although the catalogue is available via the University, the papers are held by the Medico-Chirurgical Society.

Printed collections

An exceptional collection of printed atlases, topographical material and travellers’ accounts demonstrate how the perception of these regions developed from the Renaissance period to the 20th century.

The printed collections include some of the most important atlases ever produced from the 16th and 17th centuries as well as early printed volumes in which maps and plans were inserted to inform or to embellish. Special Collections holds around 600 printed maps, atlases and plans. These encompass topographical maps, city and town plans and nautical maps and cover a chronological range from the 15th century to the present day and are representative of the printed cartographic history of Europe and Scotland. The earliest printed atlas is a 1482 reworking of Ptolemy’s Cosmographia by Nicholas Germanus and there are several further 16th century examples of maps in the Ptolemaic tradition. Works by some of the most significant map-makers such as Blaeu, Mercator, Ortelius, and Hondius are also held.

The printed collections contain many printed memoirs written by University alumni who travelled and worked as part of the army and civil service and as doctors, ministers, surveyors or explorers.

There are also named collections of relevance: London Missionary Society Lending Library, Edinburgh
