It also includes an important message to help keep your personal information safe and an update on USS’s money purchase AVCs with Prudential, which may affect you.

Remember, you can visit www.uss.co.uk for regularly updated resources to help you understand and get the most from USS.

1. Introducing the USS Investment Builder
From 1 October 2016, the new defined contribution section, the USS Investment Builder, will launch.

If you earn over a threshold – initially £55,000 a year - you’ll automatically join the USS Investment Builder, and you and your employer will make contributions to that section in respect of salary above the threshold. All members will have the option to pay additional contributions through the USS Investment Builder. If you pay an additional 1% of your salary, your employer will match this 1%. You can chose to pay more, although your employer’s contribution is capped at 1%. You can find out more about the USS Investment Builder here.

We’ll also be providing you with the following resources over the coming months to help you understand your choices:

- A summary of the USS Investment Builder, which will be sent to you in June;
- Seminars/webinars to explain how the two sections of the scheme work together, organised through your employer;
- A guide explaining the investment options in the USS Investment Builder;
- Modelling tools to help you see how the USS Investment Builder can help boost your income in retirement; and
- Example member scenarios to help you make decisions by showing common circumstances.
2. Keeping you protected

It's important that we keep your information secure. To help us do so, please do not send any personal information by email to USS. If you need to provide USS with personal data (such as your address, date of birth, National Insurance number or bank details), this should be done by post or telephone.

3. An update on USS’s money purchase AVCs with Prudential

If you pay additional contributions through USS’s money purchase AVC arrangement with Prudential, or if you have in the past, you need to read this update about how this arrangement will be changing. You can read more about the changes here.
