Active Citizenship

- An awareness and appreciation of ethical and moral issues;
- An awareness and appreciation of social and cultural diversity;
- An understanding of social and civic responsibilities, and of the rights of individuals and groups;
- An appreciation of the concepts of enterprise and leadership in all aspects of life;
- A readiness for citizenship in an inclusive society
Code of Practice on Student Discipline (Non Academic)

Covers all non-academic activity you undertake during your time as a student at the University.

“Applies to conduct that takes place on University premises; happens while engaging during a University activity; or affects or concerns other members of the University community.”
Types of offences

- Refusing to show your ID card to a member of staff
- Minor anti-social behaviour (excessive noise at anti-social times, minor vandalism and throwing items out of windows)
- Refusal to leave a building during a fire alarm
- Parking offences in University car-parks

Class 1

- Repeated Class one offences
- Tampering with fire alarms or extinguishers
- Using threatening, abusive or offensive language
- Misusing or making unauthorised use of University premises or items of property, including computer misuse, infringement of copyright when copying or downloading published information
- Intentionally or recklessly damaging University property or the property of any member of the University community.
Types of offences

- Repeated Class two offences
- Behaving in a violent, indecent or threatening manner
- Engaging in deception or other forms of dishonesty in relation to the University
- Behaving in a way likely to cause injury to any person or impair safety
- Carrying an offensive weapon
- Harassing any member of the University community. For these purposes “harassment” means behaviour or language which is regarded by the person to whom it is directed as harassment and which would be regarded as harassment by any reasonable person.
- Discriminating against any member of the University community on any ground such as colour race, nationality, national origins, disability, sexual orientation, religion or belief, family circumstances, political beliefs, gender, gender reassignment, trade union membership, age or any other unfair distinction.
- Deliberately doing, or failing to do, anything which thereby causes the University to be in breach of a statutory obligation.
- Failing to comply with a previously-imposed penalty under this Code.
Possible outcomes

Outcomes under the code vary depending on the type of offence and the circumstances of the case but can include:

- A warning
- A fine (for damage etc.) not exceeding £1,000
- A requirement to issue a formal apology
- Temporary exclusion of up to 28 days
- Suspension of student status for up to one half session
- Removal from halls and termination of halls contract
- Expulsion
Code of Practice on Student Discipline (Non Academic)

• Make sure you know the code and what it covers.

• Treat others with respect and be nice. It is a simple message but one that can prevent significant issues.

• Use your common sense.
Gender Based Violence and Sexual Assault

Signed in February 2019, this recommitment between both organisations will be refreshed each year to show our commitment to this issue for both staff and students.
Online Reporting Tool

• This online tool gives resources for students and staff to both report and seek support for any instances of sexual violence or harassment. Reports are reviewed and taken forward by HR and Student Support as appropriate.

• Reports can be made anonymously or with the support of an adviser and details of internal and external support is available 24/7
