Philosophy

2nd IN SCOTLAND FOR ACADEMIC SUPPORT*

UNDERGRADUATE GUIDE

*NSS 2019
Aberdeen Philosophy was ranked 2nd in Scotland for academic support by the 2019 National Student Survey

Why is Philosophy at Aberdeen the best choice for me?

Philosophy at Aberdeen is a vibrant, diverse and inclusive department that carries forward a tradition of over 500 years. We offer a comprehensive programme with a mix of contemporary and historical topics. We place a strong emphasis on research-led teaching; students voted Philosophy at Aberdeen number two for academic support in Scotland in the National Student Survey 2019. Through co- and extra-curricular opportunities, you can enhance your intellectual, social and employability skills, and feel part of a welcoming community that is passionate about Philosophy.
Aberdeen is structured a little differently from other universities and these differences make Aberdeen special. To help you get started let us explain the basics.

At Aberdeen we offer as much variety as we can, so you always get a chance to sample something new. In your first year you experience a range of subjects in and beyond Philosophy, without the need to commit long-term. You can experiment with different subjects. Usually in the second year you start to focus on your main degree interests. By the end of the second year, you’ll know which subjects you want to continue with at honours level. Having discovered where your strengths and interests lie, you can tailor your degree accordingly, taking advantage of the wide range of courses offered in the discipline.

University shouldn’t just prepare you for your first job, but for the rest of your life.

Nicky Campbell OBE
TV and radio presenter and Aberdeen alumnus
The Big Questions

As a philosophy student, you will engage with important and fascinating questions in a variety of branches of philosophy through critical thinking and the study of argument. This will develop your skills of analysis and communication, your ability to question assumptions and to think critically and creatively.

Year 1

Core:

- Experience, Knowledge and Reality (15 cr)
  - Coursework (1500 word essays)

And at least two from

- Controversial Questions (15 cr)
  - Coursework (1500 word essay) and take-home exam
- Logic Language and Information (15 cr)
  - Coursework (problem sets) and take-home exam
- How Should One Live? (15 cr)
  - Coursework (1500 word essay) and take-home exam

+ Plus further courses to reach 120 credits

Year 2

At least 3 from

- Metaphysics and Epistemology (15 cr)
  - Coursework (quizzes, 2000 word essay) and take-home exam
- Gender Equality (15 cr)
  - Coursework (quizzes, 2000 word essay) and take-home exam
- Mind in a Physical World (15 cr)
  - Coursework (three 1000-1250 word writing exercises)

Year 3

Choose courses from

- Global Justice (30 cr)
- The Metaphysics of Possibility (30 cr)
- Genes, Brains and Evolution (30 cr)
- Junior Honours Research Project (30 cr)
- Ancient Ethics (30 cr)
- Scepticism (30 cr)
- Free Will and Responsibility (30 cr)
- Contemporary Topics in Philosophy (30 cr)
- And other course options
- Ancient Chinese Philosophy (30 cr)

Year 4

Core:

- Experience, Knowledge and Reality (15 cr)
  - Coursework (Two 1500 word essays)

And at least two from

- Controversial Questions (15 cr)
  - Coursework (1500 word essay) and take-home exam
- Logic Language and Information (15 cr)
  - Coursework (problem sets) and take-home exam
- How Should One Live? (15 cr)
  - Coursework (1500 word essay) and take-home exam

+ Plus further courses to reach 120 credits

Dissertation
(10,000 words, supervised by staff)

Choose courses from

- Sex Race and Disability (30 cr)
- Philosophy of Time (30 cr)
- Scientific Revolutions and Scientific Rationality (30 cr)
- Knowledge Power and Society (30 cr)
- Kant’s Critique of Pure Reason (30 cr)
- Philosophy of Medicine (30 cr)
- Phenomenology (30 cr)
- Social Epistemology (30 cr)
- Freedom, Power and the Self (30 cr)
A week in the life of a Philosophy student

Here’s an example of how the week’s commitments pan out for a current first year undergraduate student who has chosen to study Philosophy.

Monday
- 10am-11am | Lecture
  Democracy and Governance
- 11am-12noon | Lecture
  Experience, Knowledge and Reality Lecture
  – Causality
- 5pm-7pm
  Wise Club discussion group
  – Stereotypes and Stereotyping

Tuesday
- 10am-12noon | Lecture
  Experience, Knowledge and Reality Lecture
  – Causality
- 12noon-1pm | Tutorial
  Democracy and Governance tutorial
- 5pm-7pm
  Philo-Bobbin social with Philosophy staff/students
- 10am-11am | Lecture
  Experience, Knowledge and Reality Lecture
  – Causality

Wednesday
- 1pm-2pm | Tutorial
  Democracy and Governance tutorial
- 11am-12noon | Lecture
  Controversial Questions Lecture
  – Euthanasia
- 12noon-1pm | Lecture
  Democracy and Governance lecture
- 5pm-7pm
  Wise Club discussion group
  – Stereotypes and Stereotyping

Thursday
- 10am-12noon | Lecture
  Experience, Knowledge and Reality Lecture
  – Causality
- 2pm-3pm | Lecture
  Experience, Knowledge and Reality Lecture
  – Mind-Body Dualism
- 12noon-1pm | Lecture
  Controversial Questions Lecture
  – Euthanasia
- 10am-11am | Lecture
  Europe in the 20th Century Lecture

Friday
- 10am-11am | Tutorial
  Democracy and Governance tutorial
- 11am-12noon | Lecture
  Controversial Questions Lecture
  – Euthanasia
- 12noon-1pm | Lecture
  Democracy and Governance lecture
- 2pm-3pm | Lecture
  Experience, Knowledge and Reality Lecture
  – Mind-Body Dualism
- 3pm-5pm | Lecture
  Experience, Knowledge and Reality Lecture
  – Mind-Body Dualism
- 11am-12noon | Lecture
  Controversial Questions Lecture
  – Euthanasia
- 10am-11am | Lecture
  Europe in the 20th Century Lecture
- 10am-11am | Lecture
  Aberdeen Philosophy in Education Group – training
- 7.30pm | Philosophy Society
  – Discussion night: The Philosophy of Time Travel
What skills will a Philosophy degree from Aberdeen give me?

Philosophy students will gain extensive intellectual skills in critical analysis and communication and the ability to apply these to specific problems.

In a world where analysis and communication are ever more important, Aberdeen Philosophy graduates develop core skills essential to most careers - the ability to work independently and in teams, to think critically and creatively, and to present arguments clearly.

‘A Philosophy degree teaches students transferable skills, such as presentation, research and communication, as well as the ability to think outside the box in problem solving, and write their obscure thinking coherently. Particular job areas include teaching and lecturing, barrister, civil service, local and national government, marketing, journalism, psychotherapy, solicitor, HR, PR and recruitment.’

The Complete University Guide
Beth Doran

The Philosophy courses at Aberdeen are interesting and accessible to all, regardless of prior experience in the subject. From first year, the courses teach you the skills you need to read and write philosophy papers, and provide engaging material to ponder. I have also found that the department are helpful and welcoming to new people, and they run a number of events which allow you to get to know other students and staff. In terms of employment skills, philosophy has taught me how to think critically and argue considerately, which I believe are necessary skills to have in many workplaces. The course has taught me how to write clearly and concisely in order to get my point across in the strongest possible way, something I value when trying to communicate complex arguments.
Focus groups and surveys show that employers highly value what humanities students learn at University. More than nine out of ten say a job candidate’s capacity for thinking and communicating clearly and solving complex problems is more important than his or her degree subject, according to an AAC&U poll. More than three-quarters favor applicants who understand other cultures.

In the past, our graduates have had no difficulty in securing rewarding jobs in a wide variety of sectors, including NGO campaigns officer, independent film company director, curator at the National Library of Scotland, consultancy firm director, and many others.

Was your degree at Aberdeen essential for getting to where you are now?

I never thought I would have to deal with so many legal documents, yet, having to read and analyse primary sources really isn’t any different from analysing a contract. Also, having to form an opinion and back it up in essays has formed a good basis in being a good negotiator. It is not just about what is on the piece of paper after four years, but all the skills you have gained along the way.

Buyer for a major supermarket chain

Was your degree at Aberdeen essential for getting to where you are now?

Yes. It gave me confidence in myself and in my ability with words. It taught me not to always accept the accepted version of events, to try to see the ‘big picture’, to empathise with the people involved. It was essential in being able to distinguish the critical items from the merely important and to present them in a concise, legible manner.

CEO, European manufacturing company

Was your degree at Aberdeen essential for getting to where you are now?

I quickly found that the training I’d had at Aberdeen ... was an excellent preparation: skills in researching a subject, analysing it, and explaining conclusions orally and in writing.

Civil servant in the Scottish Office

What sort of career could I enter?

I never thought I would have to deal with so many legal documents, yet, having to read and analyse primary sources really isn’t any different from analysing a contract. Also, having to form an opinion and back it up in essays has formed a good basis in being a good negotiator. It is not just about what is on the piece of paper after four years, but all the skills you have gained along the way.

Buyer for a major supermarket chain

Was your degree at Aberdeen essential for getting to where you are now?

Yes. It gave me confidence in myself and in my ability with words. It taught me not to always accept the accepted version of events, to try to see the ‘big picture’, to empathise with the people involved. It was essential in being able to distinguish the critical items from the merely important and to present them in a concise, legible manner.

CEO, European manufacturing company

Was your degree at Aberdeen essential for getting to where you are now?

I quickly found that the training I’d had at Aberdeen ... was an excellent preparation: skills in researching a subject, analysing it, and explaining conclusions orally and in writing.

Civil servant in the Scottish Office

What sort of career could I enter?

I never thought I would have to deal with so many legal documents, yet, having to read and analyse primary sources really isn’t any different from analysing a contract. Also, having to form an opinion and back it up in essays has formed a good basis in being a good negotiator. It is not just about what is on the piece of paper after four years, but all the skills you have gained along the way.

Buyer for a major supermarket chain

Was your degree at Aberdeen essential for getting to where you are now?

Yes. It gave me confidence in myself and in my ability with words. It taught me not to always accept the accepted version of events, to try to see the ‘big picture’, to empathise with the people involved. It was essential in being able to distinguish the critical items from the merely important and to present them in a concise, legible manner.

CEO, European manufacturing company

Was your degree at Aberdeen essential for getting to where you are now?

I quickly found that the training I’d had at Aberdeen ... was an excellent preparation: skills in researching a subject, analysing it, and explaining conclusions orally and in writing.

Civil servant in the Scottish Office

What sort of career could I enter?

I never thought I would have to deal with so many legal documents, yet, having to read and analyse primary sources really isn’t any different from analysing a contract. Also, having to form an opinion and back it up in essays has formed a good basis in being a good negotiator. It is not just about what is on the piece of paper after four years, but all the skills you have gained along the way.

Buyer for a major supermarket chain

Was your degree at Aberdeen essential for getting to where you are now?

Yes. It gave me confidence in myself and in my ability with words. It taught me not to always accept the accepted version of events, to try to see the ‘big picture’, to empathise with the people involved. It was essential in being able to distinguish the critical items from the merely important and to present them in a concise, legible manner.

CEO, European manufacturing company

Was your degree at Aberdeen essential for getting to where you are now?

I quickly found that the training I’d had at Aberdeen ... was an excellent preparation: skills in researching a subject, analysing it, and explaining conclusions orally and in writing.

Civil servant in the Scottish Office

What sort of career could I enter?

I never thought I would have to deal with so many legal documents, yet, having to read and analyse primary sources really isn’t any different from analysing a contract. Also, having to form an opinion and back it up in essays has formed a good basis in being a good negotiator. It is not just about what is on the piece of paper after four years, but all the skills you have gained along the way.

Buyer for a major supermarket chain

Was your degree at Aberdeen essential for getting to where you are now?

Yes. It gave me confidence in myself and in my ability with words. It taught me not to always accept the accepted version of events, to try to see the ‘big picture’, to empathise with the people involved. It was essential in being able to distinguish the critical items from the merely important and to present them in a concise, legible manner.

CEO, European manufacturing company

Was your degree at Aberdeen essential for getting to where you are now?

I quickly found that the training I’d had at Aberdeen ... was an excellent preparation: skills in researching a subject, analysing it, and explaining conclusions orally and in writing.

Civil servant in the Scottish Office

What sort of career could I enter?

I never thought I would have to deal with so many legal documents, yet, having to read and analyse primary sources really isn’t any different from analysing a contract. Also, having to form an opinion and back it up in essays has formed a good basis in being a good negotiator. It is not just about what is on the piece of paper after four years, but all the skills you have gained along the way.

Buyer for a major supermarket chain

Was your degree at Aberdeen essential for getting to where you are now?

Yes. It gave me confidence in myself and in my ability with words. It taught me not to always accept the accepted version of events, to try to see the ‘big picture’, to empathise with the people involved. It was essential in being able to distinguish the critical items from the merely important and to present them in a concise, legible manner.

CEO, European manufacturing company

Was your degree at Aberdeen essential for getting to where you are now?

I quickly found that the training I’d had at Aberdeen ... was an excellent preparation: skills in researching a subject, analysing it, and explaining conclusions orally and in writing.

Civil servant in the Scottish Office

What sort of career could I enter?

I never thought I would have to deal with so many legal documents, yet, having to read and analyse primary sources really isn’t any different from analysing a contract. Also, having to form an opinion and back it up in essays has formed a good basis in being a good negotiator. It is not just about what is on the piece of paper after four years, but all the skills you have gained along the way.

Buyer for a major supermarket chain

Was your degree at Aberdeen essential for getting to where you are now?

Yes. It gave me confidence in myself and in my ability with words. It taught me not to always accept the accepted version of events, to try to see the ‘big picture’, to empathise with the people involved. It was essential in being able to distinguish the critical items from the merely important and to present them in a concise, legible manner.

CEO, European manufacturing company

Was your degree at Aberdeen essential for getting to where you are now?

I quickly found that the training I’d had at Aberdeen ... was an excellent preparation: skills in researching a subject, analysing it, and explaining conclusions orally and in writing.

Civil servant in the Scottish Office

What sort of career could I enter?

I never thought I would have to deal with so many legal documents, yet, having to read and analyse primary sources really isn’t any different from analysing a contract. Also, having to form an opinion and back it up in essays has formed a good basis in being a good negotiator. It is not just about what is on the piece of paper after four years, but all the skills you have gained along the way.

Buyer for a major supermarket chain

Was your degree at Aberdeen essential for getting to where you are now?

Yes. It gave me confidence in myself and in my ability with words. It taught me not to always accept the accepted version of events, to try to see the ‘big picture’, to empathise with the people involved. It was essential in being able to distinguish the critical items from the merely important and to present them in a concise, legible manner.

CEO, European manufacturing company

Was your degree at Aberdeen essential for getting to where you are now?

I quickly found that the training I’d had at Aberdeen ... was an excellent preparation: skills in researching a subject, analysing it, and explaining conclusions orally and in writing.

Civil servant in the Scottish Office

What sort of career could I enter?

I never thought I would have to deal with so many legal documents, yet, having to read and analyse primary sources really isn’t any different from analysing a contract. Also, having to form an opinion and back it up in essays has formed a good basis in being a good negotiator. It is not just about what is on the piece of paper after four years, but all the skills you have gained along the way.

Buyer for a major supermarket chain

Was your degree at Aberdeen essential for getting to where you are now?

Yes. It gave me confidence in myself and in my ability with words. It taught me not to always accept the accepted version of events, to try to see the ‘big picture’, to empathise with the people involved. It was essential in being able to distinguish the critical items from the merely important and to present them in a concise, legible manner.

CEO, European manufacturing company

Was your degree at Aberdeen essential for getting to where you are now?

I quickly found that the training I’d had at Aberdeen ... was an excellent preparation: skills in researching a subject, analysing it, and explaining conclusions orally and in writing.

Civil servant in the Scottish Office

What sort of career could I enter?

I never thought I would have to deal with so many legal documents, yet, having to read and analyse primary sources really isn’t any different from analysing a contract. Also, having to form an opinion and back it up in essays has formed a good basis in being a good negotiator. It is not just about what is on the piece of paper after four years, but all the skills you have gained along the way.

Buyer for a major supermarket chain

Was your degree at Aberdeen essential for getting to where you are now?

Yes. It gave me confidence in myself and in my ability with words. It taught me not to always accept the accepted version of events, to try to see the ‘big picture’, to empathise with the people involved. It was essential in being able to distinguish the critical items from the merely important and to present them in a concise, legible manner.

CEO, European manufacturing company

Was your degree at Aberdeen essential for getting to where you are now?

I quickly found that the training I’d had at Aberdeen ... was an excellent preparation: skills in researching a subject, analysing it, and explaining conclusions orally and in writing.

Civil servant in the Scottish Office

What sort of career could I enter?
We’re very proud of how much our students love us, with a student satisfaction rate of 94%.

NSS 2019

Interested? Find out more:
www.abdn.ac.uk
study@abdn.ac.uk
+44 (0) 1224 272861

universityofaberdeen
aberdeenuni