

The University of Rostock was established in 1419 and is not only the university in the Baltic Sea area, but also the third oldest

We offer:

- a mid-sized university with a good professor/student ratio.
- a full-scale university with more than 100 different study programmes.
- international summer programmes.
- cooperations with various associated research institutes including Max Planck, Fraunhofer and different Leibniz Institutes.
- strong areas in Medicine, Mechanical Engineering and Ship Building, Mathematics, Natural Sciences, Information Technology and Marine Biology.

Rostock offers:

- being close to major German cities, like Berlin or Hamburg.
- being situated at the Baltic Sea—finish your class and enjoy an afternoon at the beach.
- a perfect place to explore the Baltic Sea area, with ferry lines to Sweden, Denmark, Finland, Latvia and Poland.
